 - various other signs including new site code of conduct signage, and new aluminum sulphate treatment signage

Details

Our Information, Education, and Communications Program works with our Wildlife, Fisheries, Land Management, and Report a Poacher programs to produce signs for conservation sites and their boundaries; to support participating landowners; as well as for fisheries access sites; pheasant release sites; recreational opportunity enhancement sites; and lake aeration sites. Signs are also developed for thin ice areas (warnings), interpretive trails, and in support of stakeholder communications and the Alberta Conservation Association (ACA) Grants Program.

In 2023/24, we produced 20 conservation site signs, one landowner habitat sign, one riparian conservation site sign, one enhanced fish stocking sign, and various other signs. Each conservation site has branded signage to recognize our partners, provide wayfinding for users, provide opportunities for the public to donate to ACA, and notify users of restrictions on site.

BE SAFE, BE RESPECTFUL, BE ETHICAL

- Actions that are legal are not necessarily safe or ethical in every situation.
- No bird is worth the risk of injuring a person or a dog.
- Only discharge your firearm in a safe direction, where people, dogs and vehicles are not at risk.
- Always conduct yourself in a safe and ethical manner.
- Consider allowing released birds time to acclimate to the habitat before hunting them.
- Be respectful. Clean up your garbage, keep your dog under control and don't disrupt others.
- Enjoy your hunting experience. Remember that it is a risk if you do not fill your limit every time.

Thank you for your cooperation in ensuring this site continues to be used in a manner that is safe and enjoyable for everyone.
